BRYAN'S MOVEMENTS

He Addressed Three Big Audiences Last Night.

GREETED BY BROOKLYN DEMOCRATS

Resolutions Endorsing the Chicago Nominees and Denouncing the Democrats Who Took Part in the Indianapolis Convention Adopted.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 24.-Wm. Jennings Bryan, the democratic candidate for president, delivered three speeches in this city last night before large audiences. He spoke first at the Academy of Music, next to an overflow meeting outside and later addressed a large gathering of labormen in the upper part of the city A solid mass of humanity packed the Academy of Music. It was an early crowd and fully an hour before the meeting began the doors were closed and many were turned away. The crowd in the theatre amused themselves while awaiting the beginning of the proceedings in a good natured way. There were loud cheering for Bryan and Sewall and an occasional shout for McKinley. The name of Senator Hill was derisively called and alternately cheered and hissed by the "gallery gods." When chairman of the county committee James D. Bell took his seat on the speaker's stand at 8 o'clock there was over 6,000 people present with a fair sprinkling of ladies. Judge William J. Gaynor of this city was introduced as the chairman of the meeting. Just before the opening of the meeting Mr. Bryan was escorted to the theatre by ex-Congressman Clancy and B. J. York of the Kings county democratic committee. Mr. Bryan remained in an ante-room awaiting his turn to speak. After a few preliminary remarks by the chairman resolutions, endorsing the Chicago nominees. particularly laudatory of Mr. Bryan, and denouncing gold democrats who took part in the Indianapolis convention were adopted. The resolutions were quite lengthy, and after their adoption the secretary said: "I have a list of vice-presidents of the meeting. I will read a few. But he never read them. Mr. Bryan had become tired of waiting for the preliminaries to end. and, with Bernard J. York, had entered the stage from the rear. His appearance was greeted with cheers and with much disorder. When quiet was restored Mr. Bryan said: "If you don't stop, if you don't preserve order, our opponents will say you are against order as well as against law." He then began his speech by paying a tribute to the late Henry Ward Beecher, He said: "I esteem it a great privilege to be permitted to defend the cause which has been espoused in this campaign; and I am grad to be permitted to present that cause to the people of Brooklyn. I only wish that the distinguished divine whose name has added to the fame of your great city. Henry Ward Beecher, (applause) were with us to-d, that he might champion the cause of the people in their great fight. any men would whose sympathies were on the side of humanity, my triends. LEHIGH UNIVERSITY.

Address of President Drown on the Subject of Athletics. South Bethlehem, Pa., Sept. 24 .--

Exercises of the opening of the fall session of Lehigh university were held in the Packer Memorial church yesterday afternoon. In his address to the students, President Drown spoke of some changes in the faculty and in the equipment of the university. On the subject of athletics President Drown spoke as follows: "It is a truism, I think, that physical training and athletic contests have their place in college life solely as an adjunct to sound scholarship. The sound mind in the sound body is the aim of the college life. Excess of mental training and excess of physical training are alike harmful. It is another truism, I think, that a good system of college athletics is one that is good for all students. I have no sympathy with that system which selects a score or two of men to do all the athletic work, while the remaining hundreds ges their exercise by cheering the athletes. I want all the students of the university to get all the benefit they can from outdoor games. Every student (except these who are physically unfitted for violent exercise) should be enrolled in the athletic association and have regular, systematic field practice. I would like to see more inter-class games and more inter-course games and a lively enthusiasm for healthy outdoor sport on the part of every member of the college. This will not work against the interests of the representative college teams, so dear to the hearts of all collegians and alumni, but rather work for them. In these days of great intercollegiate contests we are in danger of overlooking the needs of the great mass of college students and compelling them to get their exercise by

The chief wanted to satisfy himself as to the exact meaning of the law by which all boxing contests in public are prevented except in regularly incorporated athletic clubs. Acting Corporation Counsel Turner wrote an opinion on the subject on September 11 which has just been made public. Mr. Turner holds that recalarly incorporated clubs can give public boxing shows at which gloves weighing not less than five ounces are used. Under the opinion the police will stop all other public

WHITE HOUSE GOSSIP.

Perquisites and Pleasures of Our Chief Magistrate.

Uncle Sam Page for His Butler and His Housekeeper, Sut He Has to Fee His Barber Out of His Own Pocket.

[Special Washington Letter.]

Although considerable was recently told in a special letter concerning the routine life, the salary and expenses of the president of the United States, there are many other interesting details concerning the chief magistracy, and the perquisites and pleasures of high official position.

In the first place, the president is given a handsome residence called the executive mansion, but more commonly known as the white house. It is really a white house, constructed of pure marble. Moreover, the grounds surrounding the presidential residence are ample and beautiful. The lawns, trees, flowers, fountains, conservatory and house furnishings are supplied and cared for at the expense of the government.

One of the funny things during the taking of the census of 1890 was the official return made by President Harrison. He filled out the regular blank, declaring that he was a citizen of the United States, a lawyer by profession, that he was temporarily residing in Washington, that his income was $50,000 per annum, and that it was sufficient to support his family. He also certified that the house in which he resided was "not mortgaged."

Although the expenses of state dinners are paid out of the president's salary, all of the table equipments, including the silver, glassware, china, mirrors and floral decorations are furnished by the government. Congress provides appropriations to replace worn out or broken furniture, linen and other household necessities. During the Hayes administration a china dinner set was paid for by the government, and it cost $5,000. The white house butler and housekeeper are paid for by the government, but the president is obliged to hire his own cook and other household

The butler is usually called the steward, and he receives a regular salary for looking after the domestic affairs of the executive mansion. He buys the ice, coal and groceries, and also attends to the marketing. He sees to it that the gas and electric lights are always in order, so that the president is thereby relieved of many little household details which were originally looked after by Presidents Washington, Jefferson, Jackson and their successors down to the time of President Polk, who first induced the congress to make an appropriation for a white house butler. This official is also an important functionary in that he relieves the wife of the president of many details of housekeeping which ordinarily would fall upon the mistress of the mansion.

The housekeeper is paid a regular salary by the government, and it is her duty to superintend the chambermaids and supervise the minor details of houseand dining-room are kept in order; that | would not go through any of the white the meals are served on time: that the president's lunch is served in the diningroom, the cabinet room, in his private office, or in the library, wherever he may choose to have it brought. President Arthur and President Cleveland have often had their lunches served where it was most handy for them to partake, while attending to pressing business. In order that you may understand this little household irregularity. you must understand that it takes five minutes or more to go from the business part of the mansion to the diningroom, and sometimes the president has not five minutes to spare in the middle of the day. It does not often happen, but when it does occur, the lunch must be served wherever the president wants it served. The housekeeper also sees to it that the linen is aired, the beds made and rugs shaken, and the carpets kept perfectly clean. Insamuch as she is obliged to look after the red parlor, blue parlor, east room and other portions of the official and public part of the white house, as well as the residence portion, the housekeeper is a pretty busy woman, and earns her sal-

The congress makes an annual appropriation of $8,000 for the stationery, telegrams and other contingent expenses; and that is seldom a sufficient [sum for the payment of all contingent expenses, so that sometimes the president is obliged to use his private funds for library books and other contingent expenses, which are necessarily incident to his office, and in no sense personal to himself.

One of the best presidential perquisites is the steam yacht which is placed at the disposal of the president by the secretary of the navy. For many couse tender Violet, a little boat which hearts of his countrymen. inner only traverse the Mantie coast.

but can run into shallow creeks and bayous where good hunting abounds. President Arthur and President Harrison often used the Dispatch for cruises around Chesapeake bay, and occasionally for trips to New York and the New England coast. The Talinpoosa was a swift sloop which was often used by President Hayes; but the Tallapoosa was sunk in collision with a Yankee fishing smack off the Massachusetts coast, and the Dispatch has been the official yacht for the presidents ever

Do you remember that when Harrison was president he had a grandson named Benny McKee? He was no brighter and no better than other little boys, but the newspapers were filled with laudations of Buby McKee, and his peculiarities. One morning President Harrison went abourd the Dispatch for a trip down the Potomac, and took his family with him. Of course Baby McKee was there, too. In compliance with the request of the employes at the navy yard, President Harrison came on deck and began to make a little speech to the men, when Baby McKee inside the yacht began to cry and howl over some baby trouble. He yelled and yowled and howled, until he broke up the speech of his grandfather, who went inside, pacified the kid, and then came back to conclude his speech to the workingmen. When he went on his speech-making tour in 1891, President Harrison did not take Baby McKee with him. He consequently did not have his oratory disturbed by competition with the erratic lungs of his precocious grandchild. During the present administration the secretary of the navy has made use of the Dispatch for his own pleasure trips because President Cleveland preferred the Violet and the Oneida.

If he were disposed to accept them. the president might have many perquisites in the form of presents from the people. There is a man in Connecticut who sends a splendid turkey to the president every Christmas day, and another for the New Year dinner at the white house. He has been doing this for a score of years. It is generally understood, however, that presidents will not accent presents, and the practice formerly prevalent is practically discontinued. Once upon a time there was a Virginian who sent to President Andrew Jackson a cheese so large that i house doors or windows; and Gen. Jackson had it cut out on the big front lawn and invited the citizens of the little village of Washington to come and help themselves. At that time there were no more than 15,000 or 20,000 people in all the District of Columbia.

The president who has a family and who loves his children must have a high appreciation of the spacious grounds about the white house, in which the children may play with abandon and in safety. The wide-spreading trees, the velvety lawn, the fountains, the flowers. are all surrounded by a high iron fence and every gate is guarded by a watchman. There children may play without fear of assault or accident, while the children of tens of thousands of other dwellers in cities must be cooped up in their houses or play in the scapeless, cramped little yards. The mansion itself and the surrounding grounds may be regarded as among the president's best official perquisites.

Senators when in Washington have free shaves and shines in the senate barber shop at the capitol building: but the president is obliged to hire hip own barber and bootblack. He has no perquisites of an unnecessary or questionable nature. The fish commissioner furnishes the white house aquarium with gold fish and other fancy fishes, while the horticultural and agricultural departments furnish all varieties of flowers in addition to those which are grown in the large conservatory of the white house: but these little decorations and ornamentive beauties are really the perquisites of the president's wife; for fancy fish and flowers are more pleasing to the feminine than the masculine eves. I once knew a president whose policy proved to be unpopular during his incumbency of office, and very few senators or representatives called upon him. When thinking of his loncliness in his high position, and contrasting the lives of other presidents who daily receive the official and social calls of upwards of 50 of the leading men of this nation. it has occurred to me that the friendship and admiration of the people is a perquisite of the president which is attainable by no other American citizen in any other position, or under any other circumstances. Undoubtedly the president who was shunned by his own party leaders and ignored by the leaders of the opposition, would gladly have counted the friendship of the people a greater perquisite of his office than the salary and all other emoluments combined. The three great attributes of Washington are known to all, but it seems to me that while it was a pleasure to have ' sen "first in war," and also to venrs the Dispatch has been used by have been "first in peace," his greatest presidents for recreat onary trips, but delight must have been in a realization President Cleveland prefers the light- of the fact that he was "first in the

Much of the interest in the play centers n the work of two children, Violet Moore and La Petite Fawn, who play the parts of "Prince Roy" and "Little Lady." The talent displayed by these little tota is said to be extraordinary.

EFFECT OF HEAT.

The Human System Can Become Used to a High Temperature.

No one can tell how high a temperature man can endure until he is subjected to the trial. The effect of an intensely-heated atmosphere in causing death has been but little studied. "Some years since," says Dr. Taylor, the eminent jurisprudent, "I was consulted in one case in which the coptain of a steam vessel was charged with manslaughter for causing a man to be hashed within a short distance of the stokehole of the furnace. The man died in a few hours, apparently from the cifects of his exposure. Yet the engine rooms of steamers in the tropics have been observed to have a temperature as high as 140, and engineers after a time become habituated to this excessive heat without appearing to suffer materially in health. In certain manufactories the body appears to acquire a power, by habit, of resisting these high temperatures; still, it has been proved that many suffer severely. In a report on the employment of children (London) it is stated that in a glass manufactory a thermometer held close to a boy's head stood at 130 degrees, and as the inspector stood near to observe the instrument his hat actually melted out of shape. Another boy had his hair singed by the heat, and said that his clothes were sometimes singed, too, while a third worked in a temperature no less than 150 degrees. Amid this tremeudous heat they carry on work which requires their constant attention. They are incessantly in motion."

In the Turkish baths higher temperatures than this have been noted, but there is reason to believe that serious symptoms have been occasionally produced in persons unaccustomed to them, and that in one or two cases death has resulted. All sudden changes from a reto a high temperature are liable to cause death in aged persons or those who are suffering from organic diseases. In attempting to breathe air heated to temperatures varying from 180 to 200 degrees there is a sense of suffocation, with a feeling of dizziness and other symptoms indicative of an effect on the brain, and the circulation is enormously quickened. An inquest was held on the body of a stoker of an ocean steamship. He had been by trade a grocer and was not accustomed to excessive hear. While occupied before the engine furnace he was observed to fall suddenly on the floor in a state of insensibility. When carried on deck it was found he was dead. All that was discovered on a post-mortem examination was an effusion of serum into the ventricles of the brain. It has now become one of the recognized causes of death in this countrty. In some cases a person may sink and die from exhaustion, or symptoms of cerebral disturbance may continue for some time and the case ultimately prove fatal.

Death from sunstroke, when it is not immediately fatal, is preceded by some well-marked symptoms, such as weakness, giddiness, headache, disturbed vision, flushing of the face, followed by oppression and difficulty of breathing. and in some cases stupor, passing into profound coma. The skin is dry and bot and the heat of the body is greater than natural.

Walk slowly and don't fret and you will not experience anything of that sort .-- Philadelphia Times.

French Opposition to Conscription Law. The peasantry were weary of seeing their soldier sons return from hard campaigning with neither glery nor booty. and began to resent the conscription law, which tore the rising generation from home while yet boys. Desertions became so frequent that a terrible law was passed, making, first the family, then the commune, and lastly the district, responsible for the missing men. It was enforced mercilessly by bodies of riders known as "flying columns." Finally every able-bodied male was enrolled for military service in three classes-ban, second ban, and rear ban, the last including all between 40 and 60. Nevertheless, and in spite of all other hardships, there was much enthusiasm at the prospect of a speedy change for the better. In March, 1812 Napoleon could count 475,000 men ready for the field.-Prof. Sloane, in Century.

AN INDIAN TROY. After Twenty Centuries of Burial It Is to

Be Excavated. At last the ruins of the Indian Troy, deeply buried in the debris of over 22 centuries, are likely soon to see the light. Pataliputra, the "Palibothra" of the Greeks, the "city of sweet-scented flowers," so famous in ancient Indian legend and romance, is perhaps most widely known as the capital of Asoka, the greatest of Indian emperors, and the most lavish devotee the world has ever seen. He covered his mighty kingdom from Afghanistan to the Decean. from Nepal to Gujerai, with countless vast size. His stupendous stupas or age to grapes is reported. mounds of solid masonry to enshrine Buddha's relics, or to mark some sacred spot, are found all over India, and are of stone over 😂 feet in length and beautifully polished and sculptured, still excite the wonder and admiration of all who see them. How magnificent then must have been the capital of this great Hindoo king, who was the ally of the Greek kings, Antiochus of Syria, Ptolemy of Egypt, Antigonos of Macedon, Magnas of Cyrene and Alexander of Epirus!

It was already a splendid city in the Fourth century B. C., in the time of his grandfather, Chandragupta, the Greek Sandracottus, as we learn from the glowing descriptions of Megasthenes, the ambassador of the successor of Alexander the Great. At that time the buildings were all of wood, like the palaces and temples of Burmah in the pres ent day. It is a matter of history, how ever, how Asoka found this capital of wood and left it of stone. But before the dawn of our era this great city had decayed with the fall of Asoka's dynasty and the smaller succeeding dynusties and the transfer of eapitalelsewhere. In 400 A. D. the Chinese pilgrim Fa Hian reported that it lay deserted and in ruins. Since the Mohammedan invasion in the Twelfth century A. D. the very site of this city was forgotten. It was known to be some where near the modern town of Patna in Bengal; but most of the experts and others who had deliberately searched for it believed that it had been entirely washed away by the Ganges. Then i will be remembered that Surgeon Maj Waddell in 1892, during a flying visit to Patna, found that the leading landmarks of Asoka's capital still existed He found several sculptured stones and images of the Asoka spoch lying on the surface or built into houses or walls and these, together with the position of the old mounds, many of which still retain their ancient names, enabled him to fix with certainty the limits of Asoka's citadel, and also to indicate roughly the possible sites of particular buildings for exploratory excavations, without which, of course, no detailed identifications could be decisively attempted. Unfortunately, most of the 1 kely mounds now contain Mohammeda; graves, for the Mohammedan invaders were wont to seize the highest mounds for their residence and bur al grounds, and for centuries they have used these ruins as a quarry for their building ma. terial. Still, a beginning has now been made, and already at Patna, where five years ago no stones of the Asoka parlo: were suspected to be, there may now in seen pieces of the well-known store posts, the so-calleld Asoka rallings, with their quaintly-Sgured medallion-lik bosses, by which Asoka perpetuated is stone the original wooden tenes which surrounded the sacred Ruddhist spots And close by one may see, about 12 feebelow the present surface, parts of "the wooden walls" of Pelibethra, with their marvelously well-preserved Sa timber, over 23 centuries old.—Calentas Englishman.

The Word "Dollar." According to one authority, the word "dollar" is a corruption of the German word "thaler," the form in Dutch being "dasider," Danish "daler," and Italiar All these different forms were derived from Joachim's Thal, : Rohemian town where the count of Schlick, A. D. 1518, coined some excel lent pieces in silver of one ounce in weight. "From the name of the town came Josehim's thaler, applied to the allove-named coins, as well as that of Schlickenthaier. Hence, Jonehim's thaler pieces were first contracted into donehim's thalers and then into thalers These coins gained such a reputation that they became a pattern, so that others of the same kind, though made in other places, took the name, the word assuming different spelling through the low countries, reaching Spain as dollars, and through its provinces transmitted to the western hemisphere. where it was applied to coins prior to he adoption of the federal currency. In coinage the word "dollar" is a favor ic, being found under various spellnes in almost every part of the globe -St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

COUNTY CONVENTION.

The Democrats of the several towns and wards of Orange county are requested to send the delegates to which they are severally entitled to the County Convention, to be held at Gosber Wednesday, Sept Joth, at 1 Mp. m., to nominate candidates for county others, and to transact such other business as may properly come before the convention. By order of County Committee.

CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

The Democratic Convention for the Seventeenti Congressional District, composed of the counties of Orange, Suffivan and Rockland will meet at the Casino, in the city of Middletown, at Loclock p. m., Thursday, Oct. 1st, 1896, to nominate a candidate for Representative in Congress for said district, and to transact such other business as may properly come before the convention. By order of the Congressional Committee.

Just what Hill's interest is in John B. Thacher and his attempted straddle is one of the mysteries of the campaign that baffles even the most astute politicians.

It is believed in Albany that John B. Thacher will withdraw from the ticket. His bid for the support of the gold Democrats has proved of no effect, and in making it be brought down upon him. self the wrath of thousands of earnest silver Democrats. He tried to please every one, but has pleased no one except Senator Hill.

Dutchess county Republicans are very angry because of the announcement that Bo-s Odell proposes to nominate M. H. Hirschberg for Supreme Court Judge. They are publishing in the newspapers threats of what will happen in their candidate, Samuel K. Phillips, is shoved aside. and say in effect that Mr. Odell may be strong enough to nominate Mr. Hirschberg but is not strong enough to elect him if Dutchess county's claims are ig-

Platt says of John B. Thucher that "when a man says he believes one way and intends to vote another he places himself where the public can put no confidence in the honesty of his motives." Mr. Platt lorgets the screeds against McKinley in which he indulged before the St. Louis convention, and in which he denounced the Republican candidate as an unsaic man, unworthy of the support of any one who sincerely believed in sound money. Platt is lutting himself over Thacher's shoulders.

The managers of the Mount Holly, N J., fair had arranged for a joint debate. yesterday, between Senator Tillman and Judge Lansing, of Nebraska, who had been selected by the Republican National Committee. At the last mante Judge Lansing declined to speak on the ground that he would not be "part or a political side show." The gold organs in chronichig the meident gloeully announce that the bemocrats were "ontwitted". The exigencies of this campaign, make noces sary great beense in the use of the Engh-h langu ige

WOULD END THE HOARDING OF

GOLD. From the Circinnsti Enquire:

"The Treasury could bid good-by to the gold to serve in the event of the election of Mr. Bryin' is a solemn an nonnement from the gold bug camp This is a mistake. Mr Bryan would undoubtedly appoint a Secretary or the Treasury who would exercise the option as to the redesparent of United States notes in gold or silver instead of giving it to the gold speculators in New York This would discourage the inding of gold for speculative purposes and there would t be plenty or it in the Treasury.

ONE OF THE CURIOSITIES OF THIS YEAR'S POLITICS.

From the Albany Argus The singular spectacle is presented in Georgia of the Republican inflional committeeman for that State (Major Judson W. Lyons) up ing ah the negroes to support Governor Atkinson (Dem.) for reelection in the Grougin State election next month. Lyons explains that he takes this step because or Atkinson's strong efforts to put down lynching in Georgia and his unumling faitness, to the colored people.

OBITUARY.

Hiram S. Wilkison.

Hiram Seymour Wilkison, died Tuesday, at 3:30 p. m., at his home, a mile south of Circleville, after a long and fainful illness, which dated from Pebruary, 1885, when he was stricken with pneumonia, which left him in such a helpless state that he was confined to his bed most of the time since.

He was born April 27th, 1816, a mile and a half west of Circleville, and was one of thirteen children born to Jonathan and Hannah Puff Wilkison, of whom three survive: James B., or Brooklyn: Washington, or Newburgh, and Phube, wife or William Maltby.

He learned the mason's trade and later that of carpenter, and worked at it for several years, when he engaged in the manufacture of agricultural implements. He, however, worked at carpentering for many years and built many of the houses in the neighborhood in which he

In 1844 he purchased the farm on which he lived until his death, and on which he creeted a house and carpenter \ 12\frac{1}{2} cents. shop, the latter of which was burned just one week after its erection. He rebuilt the shop and engaged in the manufacture of churning machines, well curbs and iron fences. He enjoyed the distinction of building the first endless chain churning machine power in the State of New York.

In 1871 his house, shop and other buildings were destroyed by fire. He erected the present buildings in 1872.

Mr. Wilkison was an Old School Baptist by birth, and in 1864, with his wife joined the Old School Baptist Church near Rockville, and was a member at the time of

During the war he was lieutenant of the home militia and was discharged with honor at its close.

Through all his sufferings he was no. tient, but longed for the end that he might be at rest.

Mr. Wilkinson was a plain man and lived an honest, upright life and prospered. He was a kind, indulgent father, good citizen and excellent neighbor. In business he was fair dealing and his word was considered as good as gold.

He will be greatly missed, especially in his own home. He lived to see many of his old friends and neighbors pass away and all can truly say that the world has been benefitted by his example.

William Watson.

William Watson died in this city, last night, aged fifty-iour years. He was formerly engaged in the clothing business in Paterson and for the past three years has spent his summers at A. Little's at Dolsontown.

THE CORNER STONE OF THE ERIE DEPOT LAID WITH IMPOSING CEREMONIES.

A Memorable Day in Middletown's History-Very Great Interest in the Cere-Spectators Present-The Stone Laid in Accordance With Ancient Masonic Usage by Grand Master Stewart, Ass sisted by Officers of the Grand Lodge-Appropriate Addresses.

This is the biggest day Middletown has seen since the laying of the corner stone or the new academy building. After reading the accounts in the morning papers; last night, our citizens laid aside politics or the laying of the corner stone or the new Erie depot.

Middletown has long asked the Erie for a new depot to take the place of the antiquated structure that was originally built for a store house and was used for a depot for so many years and now that the reorganized Erie has yielded to their demands and is about to give them even and magnest much interest in the formal laying or the corner stone, and especially so when the ceremonies were under the direction or Hoftman Lodge and the Grand Master of the State of New York was present to lay the stone with Masonic pomp and ceremony.

Flags were hoisted on all buildings in the vicinity of the depot that were provided with flag staffs and many business. places were decorated in honor of the reasion.

out of town; some came in wagons and the railroads carried many passengers. The Erie gave a special excursion rate and the other roads might have done a very courteous thing by giving a special rate to Masons who desired to visit the city on this occasion.

The Ellenville train brought the first delegation of Masons to the city. Others came in on all the morning trains. The Grand Masonic officers and Eric officia s came on train 9 and were met at the depot and escorted to the Russell House by the reception committee consisting of he following:

Major W. M. Combs, chairman. Ira L. Case, L. D. Fouquet, C. C. Lutes, S. M. Boyd, H. H. Blanchard, D.C. Dusenberry, J. F. Korn, W. L. Bagley, Dr. D. H. Arthur, S. S. Decker, C. Macardell, S. G. Beyen, W. C. F. Bastian, L. V. Bauer, Frank Beight, J. B. Carson, Dr. M. C. Connor, Dr. William Evans, J. C. Fisher. Jacob Gunther, C. J. Giering, L. C. Hoyt, W. D. Hall, Dr. J. B. Hulett, Carl A. Johnson, H. B. Kingsland, T. N. Little. I. Lipfeld, C. L. Mead, A. E. Nickinson, Dr. W. I. Purdy, D. C. Roe, A. J. Ritze, J. W. Slauson, Dr. H. McD. Struble, J. D. Stivers, D. A. Taylor, E. W. Van Duzer, C. B. Wood, S. Wolf, T. A. Weller, L. G. Wilson.

At 1:30 o'clock those who were to par ticipate in the ceremonies met at Masome Hall and formed a procession headed by a platoon of police; then came the 24th Separate Company Band, visiting Masons, Sir Knights of Delaware Comm indery, No. 44, members of Hoffman Lodge, No. 412. Erie officials, Mayor and Common Council, Grand Officers of Musous.

The procession marched through North street to Franklin Square, West Main street to James and to the depot.

Following the band came the Knight Templars, twenty-nine in all, representing Hudson River and Newburgh Commanderies, who made a brilliant showing in their georgeous uniforms, white plumes and bright swords. Then came the members of Hoffman Lodge and visiting Masons, 150 in all, and then the Grand Master and staff numbering thirtysix in all.

Arriving at the depot members of Hoffman Lodge formed in two lines from the stand to the street and the Knights Templars formed thees tinside of these, through which the grand officers passed to the stand, the Knights presenting swords as they passed.

The Grand Herald commanded siand that official announced that he was pervisor W. F. Casey, Architect G. E. about to lay the corner stone.

The surroundings were not at all favorable for such a gathering, as the space was limited at best and the piles of brick and other building material shut off the view of many who came to witness the ceremonies. Death May Be Produced in Cases of Suspended Animation by the Process. A danger which many undercakers have long recognized and which some have guarded against has again been brought forcibly to their attention by two recent events—one in Louisville. Ky., and the other in New York city and so far as Philadelphia is concerned it is not unlikely that efforts will be made to have the board of health take some action in the matter. In the first instance, only a few days ago, a 16-months-old child had been ill of cerebrospinal meningitis and apparently died eight o'clock at night. An undertaker was called and the body prepared for burial on the following afternoon. When the coffin arrived the child was alive. The body had hin in the parlor. when one of the family observed the chest heave slightly. A few moments afterward the child opened its eyes and recognized its mother.

In the New York case, a man who was scheduled at first for an ice box in the morgue subsequently became a word in Bellevue hospital, the vietim of some accident which neither the coroner, the police nor the physicians were able to discover. He had been found floating face downward in the river and was supposed to be dead. A physician who happened to be at the morgue detected signs of life, caused artificial respiration, and after several hours' work restored consciousness, though the man was unable to talk, because, it is supposed, of a fracture of the skull.

"These two narrow escapes from burial alive have further impressed me with one of the perils attending the disposition of the dead," said John J. O'Rourke, of Tenth and Tasker streets. the undertaker who encased the body of Holmes in cement and interred it in Holy Cross cemetery. "I mean the danger or hasty embalming," he continued. "As you know, in most cases the doctor who has had the patient is not called in after death, and very often the relatives of the deceased expect the undrrtaker, if embalming is to be done.

to proceed with it at once. All of the embalming schools teach us that the only proper way to thus treat the body is by the use of fluids through the arteries. But in the lectures on the subiect no périod that should elapse before it is begun is prescribed, and as a rule it follows dissolution as quickly as pos-

"I contend that there should be some law or official rule governing the matter, because after the artery is punctured and the fluid goes through the whole body inside of 20 minutes it is sure to destroy any spark of life than micht remain. No. I have never met with any case of resuscitation myself. but I have had instances of death that made me besitate in the work of embalming. Some months ago a man came to me 15 minutes after a relative had breathed his last and asked me to emhalm the body. I went to the house. and, after seeing the corpse, refused, saving that I would not do it until after the expiration of 12 hours. The man had died of consumption, yet for fear of it being a case of suspended animation, I would take no chances.

"At another time a person had died of dropsy. Within half an hour I was summoned. The attending physician had not been there and 24 hours afterward be gave a certificate of death from cancer. The body was very warm when I arrived and neighbors who had kindly volunteered to prepare it were doubtful if life was extinct. I had the corpse laid on an embalming table for two hours and then placed it in what is known as a Saratoga patent box, in which are gans filled with salted ice, so arranged that cold air circulates around the body. Had this been a case of suspended animation it would have taken several hours to dispol the heat within the corpse.

"Of course there are some supposed unmistakable signs of dissolution. The only positive signs, however, are those which depend on molecular change or death rigidity of the muscles of the whole body and putrefaction of the tissues. These are most marked, accordring to Prof. F. A. Sullivan, of Boston. in occurs and tissues the vital functions of which are the most netive. The action of the heart, the movements of respiration may be so reduced as to be altomether imperceptible, so that the functions of circulation and resolvation appear to be arrested. This is occasionally observed in temporary syncole, in which a person, to all appearances dead has, after a time, regained consciousners and recovered."

"The premier condition of the nervon-systemicalled catalogsy and the state of trance are likewise further examples of the so-called apparent deaths, but on the necurrence of actual death the irritability of the muscles by degrees disancears, electricity no longer excites heir contraction, and then endaverous rio dity sets in.

"I mointain that all undertakers riendd wait ten or twelve hours before and almine a body. It will be just as Chetive then if proper care is taken. No undertoker should be permitted to As it at once without the sanction of the Sourd of health or the certificate of a countable physician. The new state board of undertakers has no power conferred upon it in this respect, but it should have. Some action will, in all probability, be urged upon the next ionishd are or upon the board of health." -Philadelphia Inquirer.

Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner was born in Hart county, southern Kentucky, in 1823, and still lives in the log house in which he was born and which was built by his father over 100 years ago. He has improved the original cabin. He has never lived away from his home except when governor of the state. He was the democratic "sound money" candidate for the senate before the legislature last winter. Gen. Buckner is worth over $1,000,-000, most of it in real estate. He graduated from West Point in 1844. He entered the army in the Mexican war and was brevetted first lieutenant for gallantry at Contreras and Churubusco. He was promoted to a captaincy for gallantry at Molino del Ray. He remained at West Point as assistant instructor of infantry tactics until March, 1855, when he resigned.

When the civil war came on he resided in Kentucky and was made adjurant general of the state, with command of the state guard. Late: he entered the confederate army.

During the siege of Fort Donelson he was third in command of the fort. Gen. Grant surrounded the fort on all sides. and after the attacks of February 13 and 14 the confederate forces saw that further resistance would be fruitless. The senior generals turned the command over to Gen. Buckner and in the evening departed by boats. Gen. Buckner, quickly realizing that his situation was hopeless, at once decided to surrender. He wrote a letter to Gen. Grant, suggesting an armistice until noon of February 15, in order that terms of surrender might be agreed upon by the appointed commissioners. To this Gen-Grant replied, and the surrender was soon accomplished.

At the close of the war Gen. Buckner devoted himself to his business interests of farming and real estate. He has been twice married.

WANTS HIGH, OFFICE, Frank S. Black, Republican Candidate for

Governor of New York. The nomination of Hon. Frank S. Plack as the republican candidate for governor of New York was a genuine surprise to a great majority of the prople. It seemed almost certain at the outset of the convention, says Leslie's Weekly, that its choice would fall in another direction. It became apparent however, to the party leaders that either one of the selections which seemed the more probable would be likely to alienate the support of a very large body of republicans; and as the outcome of this condition new forces asserted themselves, and Mr. Black was chosen as best representing the principles of that element of the convention which, while in sympathy with the socalled machine, was hardly prepared to slap in the face the opponents of the dominant organization. Mr. Black is not altogether unknown to politics. His participation in the movement for the overthrow of the desperate gang of bullies who had so long made a travesty of elections in the city of Troy, and especially his effort to bring to justice the murderers of Robert Ross, the young republican watcher at the polls who was slain while in the performance of ais duty, had brought him into conspicuous notice. There is no doubt at all that it was largely due to his efforts that certain amendments were made in the election laws which are calculated to put an end to the frauds which so long prevailed in our populous communities, The blank-ballot law of 1895 was one or. the results of the agitation which was begun at Troy and vigorously prosecuted throughout the state.

Mr. Plack is a member of the presentcongress, having been elected in 1894. He is a graduate of Dartmouth college, having made his way by hard work and great self-denial. He is now in the 44th year of his age. Those who know him best believe that he will bring to the discharge of the duties of the office to which he aspires genuine conscienfibusiness of purpose, with an intelfeetual equipment adequate to their eriditable performance.

A BUSY TIME FOR FIREMEN.

Two tlarms in Quick Sucression—E. D. B. France's Barn Burned-The Roof of a Cottage Street House on Fire.

The fire department was called out twice within an hour last evening, the second time to extinguish a blaze in the roof of the dwelling No. 28 Cottage street. This fire undoubtedly originated from a spark from the first fire, which destroyed the barn in the rear of Elling D. B. France's residence on Grove street.

The first alarm was sent in from box 25, shortly after 8 o'clock, but before the firemen could respond the flames had gained such headway as to practically destroy the building and its contents, which consisted of household goods, Which were stored there.

There was no insurance on the contents and but $100 on the building with the agency of E. P. Conkling, The dwelling on Cottage street is owned by Albert Schner, and the loss, which is slight, is covered by the same agency. Mr. I'r ence has no clue to the origin of the brem his bain.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no besitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelcus in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding LaGrippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at McMonagle & Rogers' Drug Store. Reg-"lar size 50c. and $1.00.
